Utility Protection Dog Rulebook

Introduction

The Utility Protection Dog (UPD) program is a non-competitive program where handlers can obtain titles for their dogs from a legally recognized K-9 association. All breeds of dogs are welcome to attend and obtain a UPD title. The program tests a dog's obedience, protection skills and search/hunt drive in a variety of real-life scenarios.

Because the program is noncompetitive in nature, it eliminates the problem of “club politics” which plague many dog sports and K-9 certifying organizations today. The Eastern States Working Dog Association (ESWDA) prides itself on fair and balanced judging of all its events.

Chapter 4 Judging Criteria

4.1 Obedience

- 4.1.1 The heel position of the dog shall be either the left or right side, which the handler decides upon. The judge must be notified by the handler which side the dog will heel and/or finish on prior to commencing the obedience portion of the trial.
- 4.1.2 When heeling, the proper position for the dog shall be as follows: The dog's front leg shall be in line with the side of the handler's leg. If the dog's shoulder is past the front of the handler's leg, that shall be considered forging. If the rear of the dog's skull moves behind the handler's leg, this shall be considered lagging.
- 4.1.3 In the case of a UPD1 trial, the dog is on lead for the obedience portion. The leash must remain slack and visible to the judge. If the lead tightens this will be considered forging or lagging depending upon the position of the dog. This rule shall not apply to UPD2 and UPD3 level obedience as the obedience phase is done off-lead.
- 4.1.4 The dogs should remain within a six (6) to ten (10) inch distance to the side of the handler. Anything closer is considered crowding.
- 4.1.5 The dog should also remain within the six (6) to ten (10) inch distance to the handler while making turns. Any distance further than that is considered too wide.
- 4.1.6 Poor attention in the heeling portion of the obedience trial is defined as the dog not paying attention to the handler and exhibiting unwanted behavior during heeling i.e., sniffing the ground.
- 4.1.7 Minor point violations in the obedience portion of the trial are defined as the dog sporadically exhibits behavior for which it is being judged.
- 4.1.8 Major point violations in the obedience portion of the trial are defined as the dog regularly exhibits behavior for which it is being judged.
- 4.1.9 If a dog soils the trial field during the obedience phase of the trial, he shall be disqualified from the trial.

4.2 Protection Phase

- 4.2.1 The judge will examine the dog for a full, firm and complete bite when performing the protection phase. Shallow/choppy bites are considered a fault.
- 4.2.2 Bite transfer is allowed provided that the dog upon each bite demonstrates a full, firm and complete bite.
- 4.2.3 Wrist/hand bites are considered a fault, inside forearm bites are acceptable.
- 4.2.4 If a dog soils the trial field during the protection phase of the trial, he shall be disqualified from the trial.
- 4.2.5 The maximum amount of “out” commands given to each exercise in the protection phase is three (3). The handler is allowed to wait is three (3) seconds between each command. The dog’s name is allowed to be used in conjunction with the “out” command, but any other words will be considered an extra “out” command.
- 4.2.6 If the dog does not out or release his bite after the third (3rd) command, the handler shall go to the dog and physically remove the dog from the decoy. If physical removal of the dog is required, the exercise will be considered failed.

4.3 Lost Article Search

- 4.3.1 The handler will provide the articles to be used for the lost article search.
- 4.3.2 The articles will be shown to the judge prior to the handler throwing them into the search area. Any type of food scents or other type scents not standard to the individual article is prohibited.
- 4.3.3 The key ring will be a basic metal key ring. Any type of keys fobs, or any other additions to the key ring is prohibited.
- 4.3.4 The maximum amount of keys on the key ring allowed is four (4) keys.
- 4.3.5 Any type cell phone being used for the search is allowed, however any type of cell phone cover or other additions to the phone not being factory standard equipment is prohibited.
- 4.3.6 The wallet being used for the lost article search is a basic leather or nylon wallet and must be either black, dark brown or dark blue in color. The wallet must be empty of all property.
- 4.3.7 When the dog is searching it must be obvious to the judge that the dog is using his olfactory sense and not merely using visual cues to find the article.
- 4.3.8 The dog must stay interested in the search. The handler is allowed to give the dog a maximum of three (3) verbal or hand commands during the entire time of the search to encourage the dog to continue searching. Any further commands will be considered a fault and is considered a loss of interest in the search.
- 4.3.9 The dog is allowed to overrun the search area boundaries, but not more than twenty (20) feet from the boundary line, provided that it is obvious to the trial judge that the dog is continually searching. If the dog leaves the search area and it is obvious to the trial judge that the dog is not searching, but merely wandering, this shall be considered a loss of interest in the search.
- 4.3.10 If the dog soils the search area, he shall be disqualified from the trial.

4.4 Scenarios

- 4.4.1 On the day of the trial the judge will determine which scenarios are to be used for the trial.
- 4.4.2 All scenarios in the UPD1 level are judged on a pass/fail rating system.
- 4.4.3 The UPD2 level has one (1) scenario of the judges choosing from the UPD1 level list of scenarios and one (1) scenario from the UPD2 level list of scenarios. The level 1 scenario is judged on a pass/fail basis and the UPD2 level scenario is judged on a point basis.
- 4.4.4 The UPD3 level scenarios are two (2) scenarios of the judges choosing, picked from the UPD3 level list of scenarios. Both scenarios are judged on a point basis.
- 4.4.5 The scenarios will remain the same for each handler and dog being trialed.

Chapter 5 Trial Procedures

5.1 Trial Procedures

- 5.1.1 Any dog appearing to be out of control, or appears to be a danger to the handler, decoy, judge or bystanders shall be immediately disqualified from the trial and the judge will order that the dog be immediately removed from the grounds of the trial or event by the handler.
- 5.1.2 All dogs must remain on lead at all times or placed in a secured area. No dogs shall be placed near or in the area of the trial field when the trial is in progress. The only dog allowed in the trial field area is the dog which is in the process of working on the field.
- 5.1.3 The only personnel allowed inside the outside boundary of the trial field is the judge and handler.
- 5.1.4 All other personnel and bystanders will remain outside the outside boundary line in a spectator area designated by the judge. The spectator area shall be at least thirty five (35) feet from the outside boundary line.
- 5.1.5 If a dog during his participation in the trial goes outside the outside boundary line, the dog will have failed that particular exercise. If a dog goes outside the outside boundary line twice in a trial, the dog will be disqualified from the trial.
- 5.1.6 The dog and handler will enter the trial field at the entrance and will be met by the judge at that location. The handler will remain at the entrance to the field until advised to go to the starting position by the judge.
- 5.1.7 Upon the handler and dog reaching the starting cones, the judge will ask both the handler and decoy if they are ready to proceed. Once they both they are ready, the handler again asks the decoy if he is ready. Once the decoy says he is ready the judge will advise the handler to begin.
- 5.1.8 While doing the protection phase, the judge will tell the handler when to out the dog. The handler upon getting the command from the judge to out the dog, will say to the decoy “suspect, stand still and stop fighting the dog”. The decoy upon hearing the handler will immediately stop fighting the dog and remain passive. The handler will then “out” the dog. This applies to both bite work and muzzle work. If the dog outs prior to the handler issuing an “out” command it shall be considered a fault.

- 5.1.9 During the muzzle phase of the trial, the muzzle used will be supplied by the handler for use with their dog. The muzzle will be both examined by the judge and decoy prior to it being placed on the dog to insure it is in satisfactory condition and capable of performing the muzzle phase of the test safely. Both the judge and the decoy must agree that the muzzle is safe to use.
- 5.1.10 The muzzle will be placed on the dog at the beginning of the muzzle phase in the presence of both the judge and decoy. The handler will then check the fit of the muzzle on the dog by grasping both sides of the muzzle and picking the dog's front legs off the ground and shaking the muzzle from side to side. The muzzle must remain on the dog. Both the judge and decoy must agree that the muzzle is fitting properly. The muzzle phase then is to start immediately after the muzzle fit test.
- 5.1.11 During the portion of the protection phase where gunfire is involved, only approved blank guns will be used. No real firearms will be used at any time.
- 5.1.12 Both the decoy and the judge will examine the blank gun being used for the trial to insure that it is a blank gun and not a real firearm.
- 5.1.13 The judge will maintain custody of the blank gun and will be the only person allowed to load and unload the blank gun, using only manufacturer's approved blanks for the particular type of blank gun being used.
- 5.1.14 Upon finishing the entire UPD trial, each handler will meet with the trial judge individually and there the handler will be notified of his UPD title rating. The judge shall not advise the handler of his numerical score. If the handler and dog do not successfully pass the trial, the handler will notify the handler of areas which need improvement, but no numerical score will be given the handler.
- 5.1.15 A trial judge's decision at the time of a trial is final and without arbitration.
